FOREWORD

This sex equity resource guide lists materials that will aid Texas vocational educators in eliminating sex bias and sex stereotyping in the curriculum and the classroom. The guide consists of twelve chapters. Each chapter contains numerous resource entries. Each entry consists of a title, author (if given), date (if given), price, a short abstract, and order availability. The price given does not include shipping and handling charges because such charges are usually dependent on how many copies are ordered and how far the package must be shipped. It is suggested that the publisher be contacted by telephone, if possible, to obtain these charges. Also, some publishers require prepayment before shipping. A telephone call can obtain this information before ordering.

This guide was compiled from various sources. The main source used was the Sex Equity Resource Center Catalog. The materials listed in this catalog are housed at the Center on Education and Training for Employment (CETE) at The Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. The Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) database was also used as were numerous publisher's catalogs. Some that were especially helpful were published by the Center on Education and Training for Employment (CETE), Films for the Humanities & Sciences, the National Center for Research in Vocational Education's Materials Distribution Service, the National Women's History Project, New Day Films, the United States Government Printing Office, the Vocational Instructional Materials Laboratory at CETE, the Vocational Studies Center, Women Make Movies, Inc., and the Women's Educational Equity Act (WEEA) Publishing Center. Catalogs can be obtained by contacting these publishers. Check the appendix for a list of publishers' addresses and telephone numbers.
